GALLERIA O. ROMA

THE ANTIQUES SHOP

PART OF MULTIPLEX, A PROJECT BY TOM DIXON

Giustini / Stagetti Galleria O. Roma is proud to present 'The Antiques shop', a selection of rare Italian modern works produced between the 30's and the 80's, from Franco Albini to Tom Dixon passing by Gio Ponti and Ettore Sottsass. The project, focused on the chair's theme is part of the ambitious show by Tom Dixon titled MULTIPLEX, located in a huge 840 seater plush Cinema and a historic Galleria on via Manzoni. MULTIPLEX is a 2-storey exhibition that take visitors on a fully immersive experience around Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow.

An oasis of comfort and entertainment for the exhausted design aficionado, the tourist and the busy professional juggling appointments under the Milanese sun or escaping from the early spring showers.

Dixon says: 'Milan in April turns into the Glastonbury of Design - a huge explosion of ideas, colors, shapes and functions, a massive influx of design obsessives all seeking the late ideas. This year we have acknowledged the need for a place to stop, to refuel, to catch up on the newest concepts and the late designs and share the full excitement of our latest products. We've chosen this iconic 1950's Galleria and Cinema so that we can fully embrace the delicate balance of commerce, culture and entertainment that makes Milan the best Design Festival of the year'.
